Attorney for Plaintiffs

2013 MAR -5 PM 3:53
SANDRA K. KARRAM, CLERK
BY: K MORTENSON

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT FOR THE STATE OF ARIZONA
IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF YAVAPAI

There is no factual dispute that the Coyote Springs Ranch CC&Rs contain nineteen separate restrictions. There is no factual dispute that the non-waiver provision of the CC&Rs states: "[N]o failure of any other person or party to enforce any of the restriction, rights, reservations, limitations, covenants and conditions contained herein shall, in any event be construed or held to be a waiver thereof or consent to any further or succeeding breach or violation thereof . . ." There can be no factual dispute that the entire Coyote Springs Ranch restrictive plan has not been abandoned for the simple reason that, with only minor exceptions, the nine acre parcels for ninety-seven (97) percent of the properties still exist. How will Defendants be able to prove by clear and convincing evidence that the lot size restriction has been thoroughly disregarded? It is clear and convincing that they cannot. This undisputed fact presents an overwhelmingly solid basis for this Court to grant Plaintiffs' Motion for Summary Judgment.

This Court must take judicial notice of the Yavapai County Assessor's Office records

Rule 201(c)(2) of the Arizona Rule of Evidence states "[T]he court must take judicial notice if a party requests it and the court is supplied with the necessary information." Attached to this Reply is a set of documents obtained from the Yavapai County Assessor's Office which provides the lot size information for the two hundred and eighty-eight parcels which are governed by the CC&Rs. See Exhibit 1. The properties were identified consistent with previous court records in this case. See Affidavit of Christi Padilla attached hereto as Exhibit 2.

Defendants' speculative listing of apparent violations of CC&R # 2 falls far short of establishing genuine issues of material fact to support a claim that the entire restrictive plan has been abandoned

In Condos v. Home Dev. Co., 77 Ariz. 129, 133, 267 P.2d 1069, 1071 (1954), the court addressed an argument identical to the one argument raised in Defendants' Response to Plaintiffs' Motion for Summary Judgment.

> The Company asserts that it is the law that covenants of the character here involved are separate and each independent of the other and that the right to enforce one covenant is not affected by the violations of others and that the indulgence in such breach will not constitute a waiver or abandonment of all restrictions in the absence of a clear intent to abandon. Defendants concede this to be the law but claim that the principle stated is not applicable to the instant case for the reason that there had been a complete abandonment of the [77 Ariz. 134] restrictions in this particular subdivision which has destroyed the restrictive covenants as such and left the subdivision without any restrictions that could be enforced. We have above expressed our views to the contrary.

Defendants claim in pages 8 through 20 of their Response that there are a number of conditions which a private investigator observed on a particular day and that somehow these apparent conditions create an issue of fact of sufficient magnitude to defeat Plaintiffs' motion. The Condos court addressed the same issue and found in favor of upholding the restrictions:

> The witness Proctor, testifying for defendants, pointed out a number of violations concerning side-line restrictions--outside toilets, unpainted wooden houses, unplastered adobe or cement block houses and in certain cases a number of units being constructed on one lot. It is not clear whether any buildings on the premises were used exclusively for religious purposes but there were two residences in which religious services were held. Assuming, however, that all the violations claimed by defendants occurred, they are not of such a character and extent to indicate an abandonment of the entire restrictive plan. Under such circumstances owners of lots may therefore enjoin violations of other restrictive covenants. In Cuneo v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 337 Ill. 589, 169 N.E. 760, 764, involving restrictions placed upon a certain subdivision in the city of Chicago relating to the required space between front of buildings and the front property line; prohibiting buildings that cost less than $5,000 to be constructed thereon; limiting buildings to one residence per lot; prohibiting apartment or flat buildings used or adapted for separate housekeeping for more than one family; prohibiting the use of livery stables or any kind of business upon said lots, the court said that:
> '* * * Each of these restrictions is separate and independent of the other, and it can scarcely be said that, because some of the lot owners on Castlewood terrace have violated the building line restrictions, if they have, the balance of the lot owners stood by and permitted it to be done, all restrictions have been abandoned. * * *'

Condos at 133-134, 267 P.2d at 1071-1072 (emphasis added).

The analysis is the same for this Court. Even if this Court assumes that all of the claimed apparent violations occurred, they are not of such a character and extent to indicate an abandonment of the entire restrictive plan. The videos filed with John Cundiff's affidavit and the view this Court will have if it decides to accept Defendants' invitation from nine months ago to conduct a site inspection, will reveal that Coyote Springs Ranch has the undeniable characteristics of a rural, residential community, just as the creator of the CC&Rs , Robert Conlin, intended.

Adding to this insurmountable obstacle facing Defendants is the lot size. There is nothing more devastating to Defendants assertion of the defense of abandonment than the fact that two hundred and eighty parcels out of two hundred eighty eight consist of at least nine acres. Robert Conlin stated in his affidavit that "[The] recorded covenants and restrictions were intended to ensure that the Coyote Springs Ranch subdivision would be a residential community. The nine acre lots were intended to ensure that the residential community would retain a rural setting." (emphasis added). The lot size restriction has been violated, if at all, to a degree that does not rise to a de minimus classification let alone one that equates with thoroughly disregarding the entire restrictive plan.

As stated in College Book Centers, Inc., v Carefree Foothills Homeowners' Association, 225 Ariz. 533,539, 241 P.3d 897,903 (App. 2010) "when CC&Rs contain a non-waiver provision, a restriction remains enforceable, despite prior violations, so long as the violations did not constitute a "complete abandonment" of the CC&Rs. Defendants have not demonstrated that they can present any evidence that the lot size restriction and the rural residential character of Coyote Springs Ranch have been abandoned. As a result, these facts are undisputed and the Plaintiffs are entitled to judgment as a matter of law.
